until recently anne clifford has been known primarily for her knole diary edited by vita sackville west which recounted her steadfast resistance to the most authoritative figures of her culture including james i as she insisted on her right to inherit her father s title and lands lucy hutchinson was known primarily as the biographer of her husband a puritan leader during the english civil wars the essays collected here examine not only these texts but in clifford s case her architectural restorations and both the great book which she had compiled and the great picture which she commissioned in order to explore the identity she fashioned for herself as a property owner matriarchal head of her family patron and historian in hutchinson s case recent scholars have turned their attention to her poetry her translation of lucretius and her biblical epic order and disorder to analyze her contributions to early modern scientific and political writing and to place her work in relation to milton s paradise lost a maverick in her own time margaret cavendish duchess of newcastle 1623 1673 was dismissed for three centuries as an eccentric crank yet the past few decades have witnessed a true renaissance in cavendish studies as scholars from diverse academic disciplines produce books articles and theses on every aspect of her oeuvre cavendish s literary creations hold a wide appeal for modern readers because of her talent for thinking outside the rigid box that delimited the hierarchies of class race and gender in seventeenth century europe in so doing she challenged the ultimate building blocks of early modern society whether the tenets of christianity the social and political imperatives of patriarchy or the arrogant claims of the new baconian science at the same time cavendish offers keen insights into current social issues her works have become a springboard for critical discourse on such topics as the nature of gender difference and the role of science in human life sara mendelson s aim in compiling this volume is to convey to readers some idea of the scope and variety of scholarship on cavendish not only in terms of dominant themes but of critical controversies and intriguing new pathways for investigation this volume includes leading scholarship on five writers active in the first half of the sixteenth century margaret more roper katherine parr anne askew mildred cooke cecil and anne cooke bacon the essays represent a range of theoretical approaches and provide valuable insights into the religious social economic and political contexts essential for understanding these writers texts scholars examine the significance of margaret more roper s translations and letters in the contexts of humanism family relationships and changing cultural forces the contributions of katherine parr and anne askew to reformation discourses and debates and the material presence of mildred cooke cecil and anne cooke bacon in the intellectual religious and political life of their time the introduction surveys the development of the field as an interdisciplinary project involving literature history classics religion and cultural studies
